Starting with the day of the dedication of the tabernacle (the tent of meeting), each of the 12 tribes would bring gifts to the Levites over the following 12 days—one tribe per day, amounting to a 12-day dedication ceremony.

Zebulun brought offerings on the third day.

The next day, the third day (v. 24), Eliab the son of Helon, leader of the sons of Zebulun, presented his offering. “Eliab” (“my God is father”) was mentioned in Numbers 1:9 as the leader of the tribe of Zebulun.

The offering of the tribe of Zebulun was identical to the other tribes and consisted of the following items:

- One silver dish whose weight was one hundred and thirty shekels (v. 25). This made the dish about 3.3 pounds (1.5 kilograms) of silver.
- One silver bowl of seventy shekels. This made the bowl about 1.75 pounds (or 0.8 kilograms) of silver. The standard weight of the “shekel” was based according to the shekel of the sanctuary, making it around 0.4 ounces.
- The silver dish and silver bowl were full of fine flour mixed with oil. The “flour” was to be used for a grain offering.
- One gold pan of ten shekels (v. 26), or about 0.24 pounds (110 grams) of gold. The “pan” was presented full of incense.
- One young bull, one ram, one male lamb one year old, for a burnt offering (v. 27).
- One male goat for a sin offering (v. 28).
- The next items were to be used for the sacrifice of peace offerings (v. 29), and they consisted of two oxen, five rams, five male goats, five male lambs one year old.

All of the items above comprised the offering of Eliab the son of Helon.
